

To Whom it may Concern,

I am writing this letter to strongly recommend [name] for admission in your PhD program. [name] started their master degree under my supervision, but had to move to USA for family reasons. The topic of their research was data modeling using statistical learning. Despite the short period, [name] did excellent research works that was published. I am really impressed by their deep understanding and strong background.

[name] is a serious hard working student. They are very polite and have a very cooperative attitude. I am sure that they will have an excellent career as a researcher.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if more information are needed.

[name]